

Part-Time Pros

Providing talented professionals for part-time employment

Part-Time Pros (“PTP”) was created in March of 2008 by Tulsa natives Carey Dunkin Baker and her husband Brett Baker. In July of 2007, Brett and Carey became parents and, like many new parents, wanted to be able to balance their work/family life. Carey saw an opportunity to tap into the talents of degreed professionals who wanted to continue to work while also making time for family. This concept was the spring board for starting Part-Time Pros. PTP’s mission is to be a talent acquisition firm that specializes in recruiting part-time professionals and placing them with companies (the “clients”) who have part-time personnel needs. PTP is the only talent acquisition firm in Tulsa and Oklahoma recruiting individuals who are degree-educated or have equivalent work experience to work contract or part-time. PTP employs stay-at-home moms/dads, early retirees, highly skilled independent contractors, and college students. PTP recognizes the desire of these talented professionals wanting to continue careers on a part-time basis and gives the clients the benefit of receiving the professionals’ services at a much reduced cost. PTP currently works with over 60 employers and has plans of expanding their services nationwide.
