

January 2009 Newsletter

GROWING YOUR BUSINESS IN A DOWN ECONOMY

In an uncertain economy many companies tend to cease hiring and attempt to handle multiple tasks with existing staff. This can oftentimes lead to unhappy employees and effect companies morale. Economist suggests the use of outside experts instead of hiring new staff. In a shaky economy, it's hard to assume the risk of adding new full-time employees. Hiring seasoned professionals on a contract basis to handle specialty work – such as accounting, clerical, web design, message development, graphic design and special projects-- allows you to limit spending to your immediate needs, allows your existing staff (or you) to be more efficient, and enables you to achieve top-notch results without creating an ongoing expense. Part-Time Pros can assist companies with such projects and would love the opportunity to work with you. Please call or e-mail us for more information.

Carey